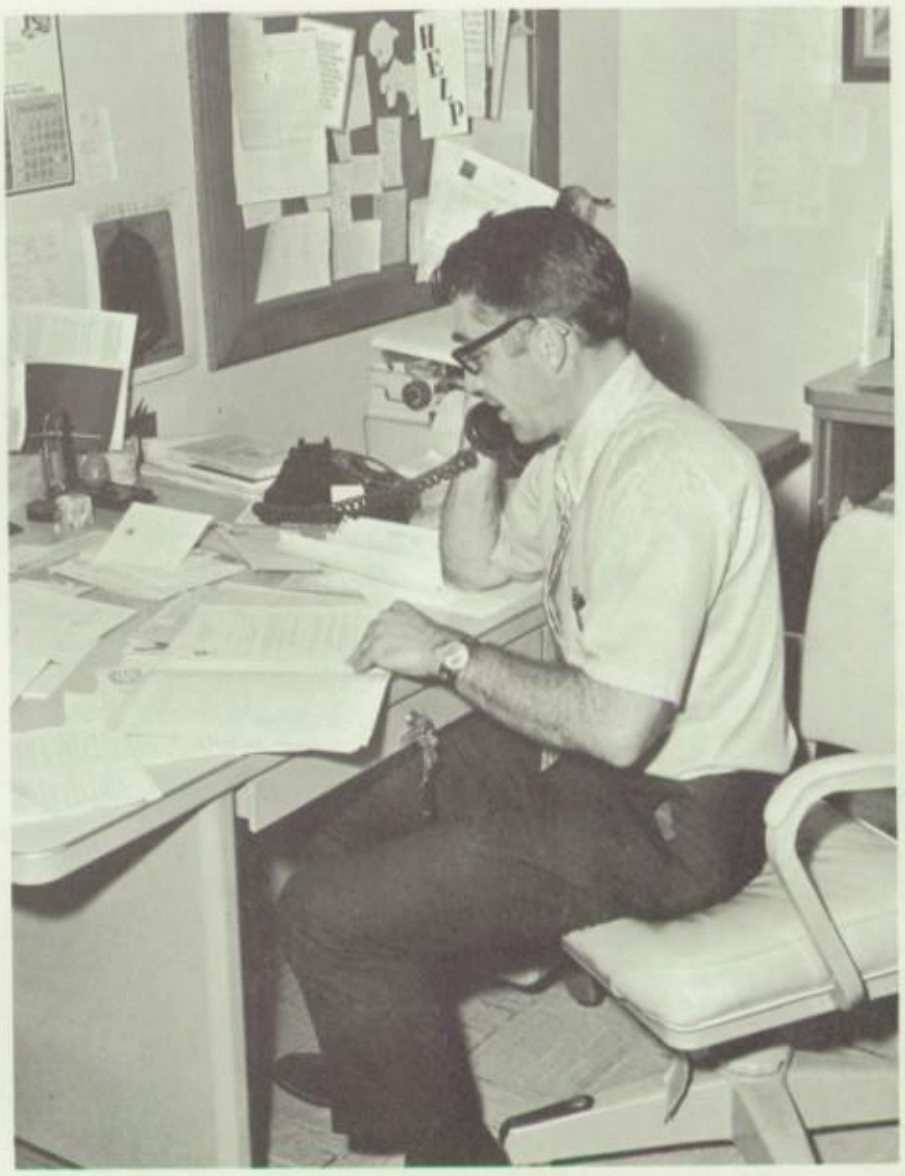
DEDICATION

To our Junior and Senior Class Advisor, Mr. Cook, we would like to dedicate our yearbook, Spotlight '71. Because you have been so patient and understanding to all of us and through the service, advice and cooperation you have shown, your classes and the community have profited greatly. We know that it is not an easy task being the supervisor of suppers, the supporter of money-making projects, and the reprimander of uncontrollable "characters." This dedication is but an incomplete expression of our gratitude because of your having been such a faithful supervisor, supporter, and reprimander. It is through this dedication that we wish to say, "Thank you."

APPRECIATION



Appreciation, gratitude, thanks; they're all synonyms, but inadequete words unable to express the feeling we hold for you, Mr. Bensink, in return for your effort, guidance, advisement and encourgement you exerted on behalf of our class yearbook. You have helped us make a memory of the past to keep in the future. You have made it possible for us to be able to look back upon these pages of the '71 Spotlight nostalgicly. For this we are gratiful.

CLASS OF 1971

"The old order changeth, giving place to new". Alfred, Lord Tennyson, was the author of that quotation published in "Idylls of the King" in 1859.

There have always been demands for change. The number of demands today seem greater than ever . The methods used by the advocates of change range from peaceful dialogues to anarchistic bombings, a repetition of history.

Progress comes through change. Our task is to judge the merits and benefits of the many proposals and demands that confront us individually—also, collectively, as a nation. Changes for the common good should be made operational within the framework of our government and institutions. We should resist attempts to force change by violence.

Moral and social values are being challenged by a "permissive" attitude. Many segments of society condone these relaxed attitudes. Does what is morally right or wrong really change?

Our decisions must be based on our education and experience. Our education should teach us to adapt to change, and to accept what is beneficial for all.

It is the sincere wish of all the people who have worked with you that you will use the best aspects of your training to assist in bringing successful solutions to the pressing problems of our turbulent world.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Reading is the basis for knowledge. There are some people who require attention in this area. Mr. McMullin teaches special classes to improve reading skills of the individual's progress in the elementary grades.

Mrs. Legters teaches secondary reading skills to those students lacking skills in this area. Vocabulary, comprehension and increased reading speed are three of her main objectives. Self-confidence built through oral reading is a major goal in her job.

Without the valuable help of a guidance counselor it would be virtually impossible for a student to find the answers to questions he may have about his future or school status. Mr. Bensink is the man CCS students go to whether planning a high school schedule, considering and deciding about college applications or just needing a little reasurance.

Mrs. Fair performs the service of examining and cleaning students' teeth and promoting good dental hygiene.

A student cannot be expected to maintain a high level of scholastic achievement unless he is physically and mentally capable. Dr. R.X. Williams, Sr., the school physician, gives physical examinations and holds clinics beneficial to the students.

Ivan Heslink, CCS bus manager and mechanic, takes the responsibility for the transport of our students seriously. The repair and maintenance of the buses requires special care. Mr. Heslink maintains the buses for safe transport to and from school in addition to games, field trips and other school activities.

Safety, though not always practiced by our students, is the concern of our crossing guard, Mr. King, who protects our students while crossing the main street in front of our school.

Miss Lanston, the school nurse, is always here to do anything she can to assist the student with his health problems. Among her usual duties, she also gives eye and ear examinations and can administer first aid in emergencies.

CC'S CHEERLEADERS

SENIOR CHORUS

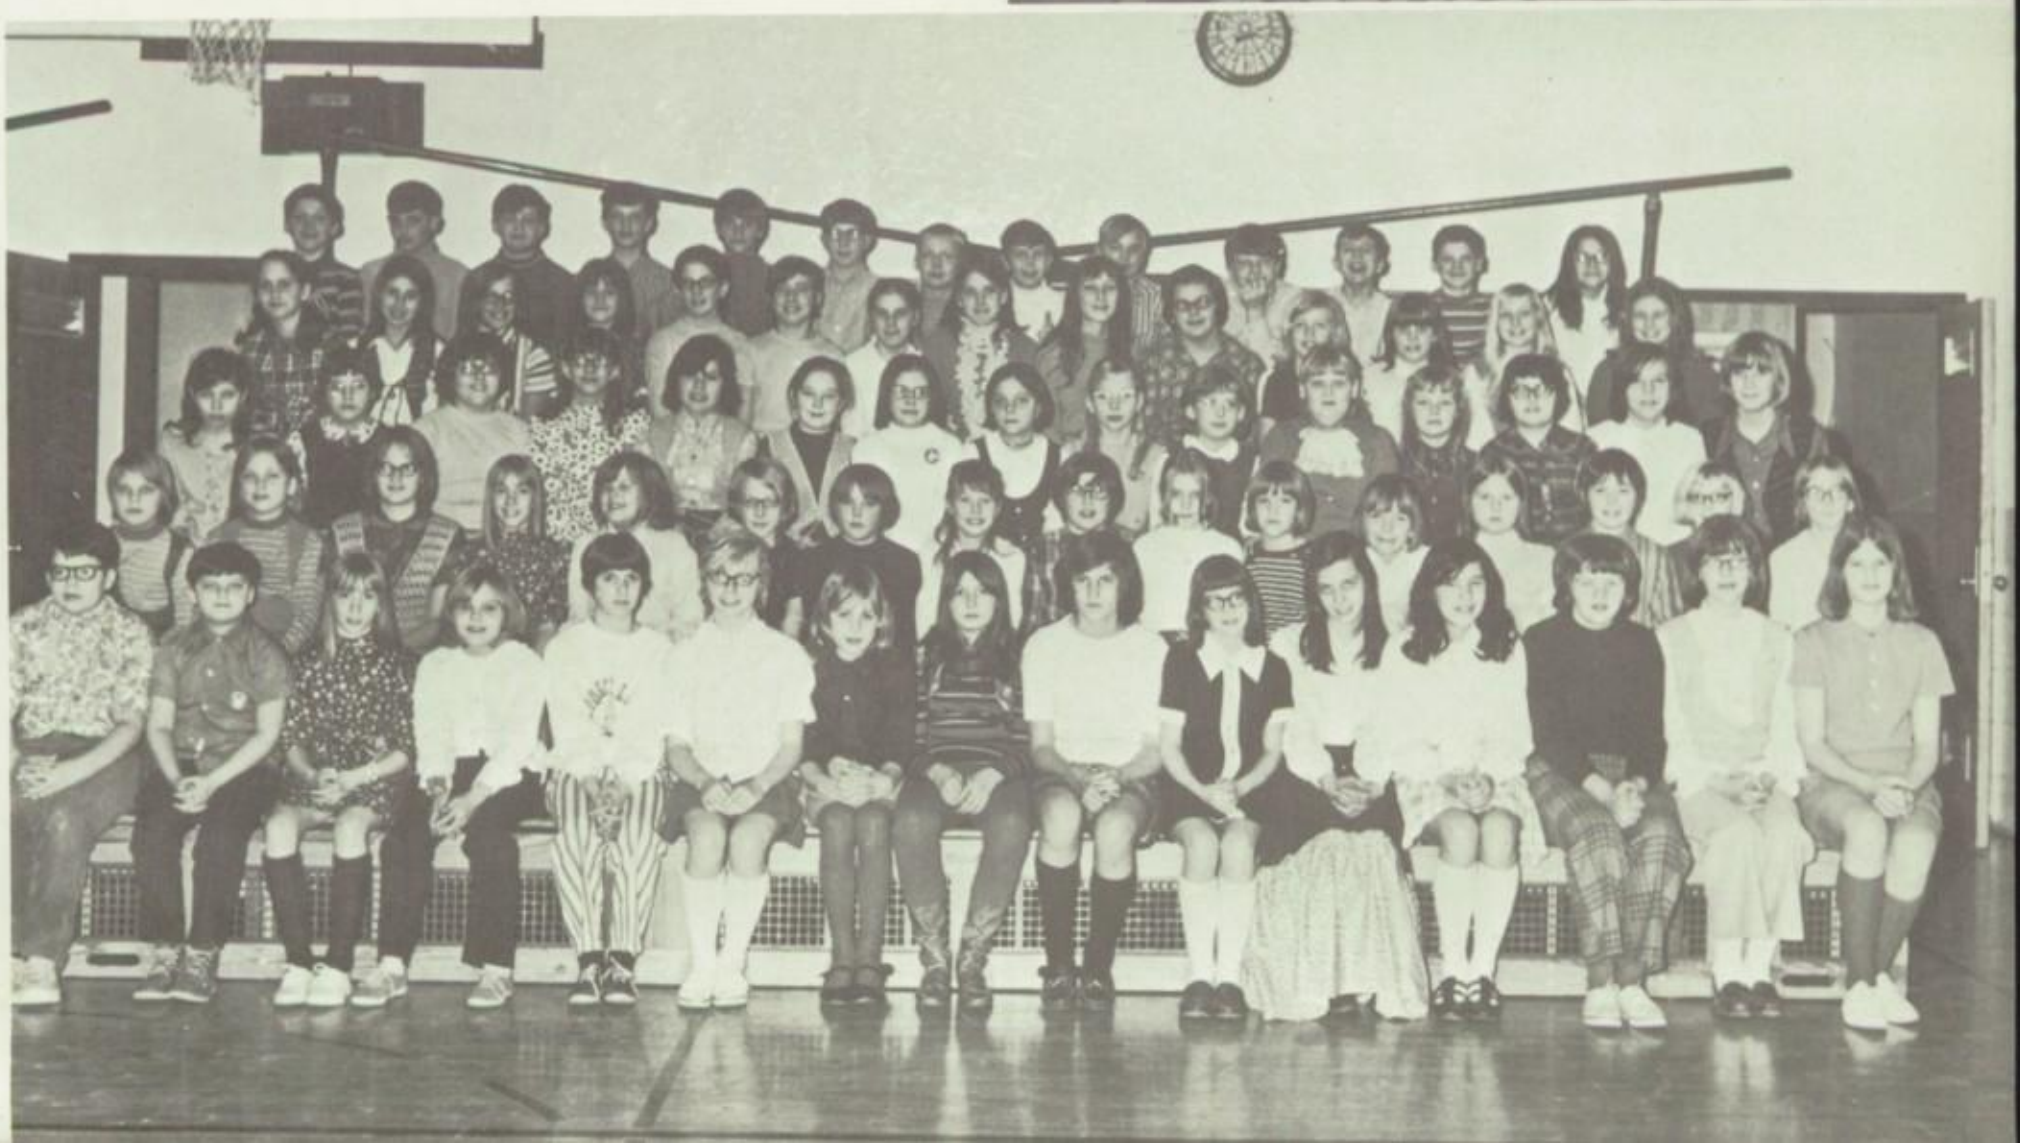
The chorus convenes under Mrs. Cooks' capable direction Tuesday and Thursday of each week to rehearse for their annual Spring and Christmas Concert. The chorus consists of the bass, tenor, alto and soprano voices joining in a well balanced and harmonious group. The chorus also attends other activities such as Chorus and Solo competition, Chautaqua County Music Festival, and Sectional All-State chorus, this year held in Williamsville, NY.

JUNIOR HIGH CHORUS

GIRL'S GLEE CLUB

The Girl's Glee Club primarily consists of freshman girls with an interest in vocal music. These girls take part in the annual Spring and Christmas concerts as a special ensemble. The Glee Club gives them the practice necessary to enter the high school chorus.

ELEMENTARY CHORUS



SENIOR BAND

The Senior Band, under the direction of Mr. Nitsch, practices Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. All students in the band receive music lessons to develop music skills and to give confidence in individual performance. The members strive to blend the various tones of their instruments into a well-balanced unit. To help build school spirit, the Clymer Central Band organizes into a smaller group, the Pep Band, which plays for pep meetings and rallies. The band's various activities include participation in assemblies, concerts, competitions, senior graduation exercises, the annual picnic, and various parades. When the weather warms up one can hear commands being shouted over the drum cadence while the band practices outdoors.

ROCK BAND

The newly formed Rock Group called "The Nine of Us" performs for various occasions including the annual Christmas and Spring concerts and assemblies, and they are in great demand for dances.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Girls who are interested in homemaking are the members of the Future Homemakers Club. They have many activities which take up the entire school year, among them the initiation of new members, many moneymaking projects, and guest speakers who inform the girls about various subjects.

JUNIOR PLAY

HOW many bodies in the trunk?

So was the scene for "Ramshackle Inn'. It all started when Miss Pryde, an old maid librarian, bought a very strange and mysterious tumble-down, leady-roofed hotel managed by somewhat of a questionable character. Miss Pryde saved for twenty years in order to buy a hotel so she could meet interesting people everyday. She not only got what she bargained for, but a good deal more. She encounters many people from villains to protectorates of the law to bootleggers, living and dead. In the most unusual way the baffling mystery is solved.

SENIOR PLAY

SENIOR PLAY

The scenes of "Arsenic and Old Lace" portray the charm and innocence of two elderly ladies who populate their cellar with the remains of socially and religiously "acceptable" roomers. The insanity of their brother who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt while charging San Quan Hill, blowing his bugle or digging ditches for the Panama Canal enhances the theme. The actors protray such characters as a Boris Karloff type villain and a plastic surgeon who speaks with a German dialect. Mortimer, another brother of the two sweet ladies, marrys the preacher's daughter in the midst of the murders.
